EDUCATOR'S GUIDE

WE WILL ACCEPT
NOTHING LESS
THAN FULL
VICTORY

Dwight D. Eisenhower

WELCOME

We are delighted to present the 2021-2022 Educator's Guide. In it you will find programs and resources offered through IKEducation, a collaborative initiative between the Eisenhower Foundation and the Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home in Abilene, Kansas. Our professional IKEducators are excited to work with you and your students. Find the program that best meets your learning needs and follow the easy steps to reserve your spot now!

Director, Presidential Library & Museum

Many aspects of the upcoming 2021 - 2022 school year remain unknown and in flux due to the changing COVID-19 pandemic, but IKEducation is ready to roll with whatever situation comes our way. The Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home is governed by the National Archives and Records Administration and the federal government. This means on-site field trips are subject to their post-COVID reopening plans and restrictions. At the time of this publication (August 1, 2021), all the buildings on campus are closed. As schools and the National Archives make changes to safely serve students, IKEducation will similarly modify our offerings to accommodate the situation. You can check the Eisenhower Library's website for an up-to-date status of their reopening. However, during their time of closure, IKEducation hopes to bring our programs to your classroom virtually through IKE Online or physically through IKE Express.

ON-SITE FIELD TRIPS

When COVID restrictions lift, we hope you will bring your students to the Dwight D. Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home. We offer "IKEtivities" for enhanced learning at our different campus features as well as focused IKEducation programs that take place within our classroom spaces. As you browse the programs in this guide, the map pin symbol will designate those available for on-site field trips.

Wait List

If you would like to be contacted when on-site field trips are allowed, please visit the "Plan Your K-12 Experience" page on our website: www.EisenhowerFoundation.net.

IKE ONLINE

IKEducation offers live, interactive, virtual programs for your classroom. In many cases, materials will be sent ahead of time for the teachers and students to use during the live program. As you browse the programs in this guide, the internet symbol will designate those available to be scheduled online.

IKE EXPRESS

Can't come to us? IKEducators will bring our programs right into your classroom! As you browse the programs in this guide, the truck symbol will designate those available for Ike Express.

EisenhowerFoundation.net/IKEducation

IKEducation has launched many exciting new educational components on our website for teachers and students.

Primary Source Library. This ever-growing resource showcases archival documents, historic photos, and 3-D imaging of artifacts. Teachers and students can use these assets to closely examine and learn from primary sources.

IKEducation acquired several amazing digital resources which were created by the Eisenhower Memorial Commission as they built the new Eisenhower Memorial on the National Mall in Washington D.C.. This includes an interactive timeline and seven Pivotal Moments of Ike's life. These are wonderful interactive tools for teachers and students to explore and utilize.

Dedicated to honoring the stories and personal accounts of veterans of World War II, Ike's Soldiers provides teachers and students access to a database of interviews from American heroes who fought during World War II and served under the leadership of General Eisenhower. Students can research from our database or learn how to become a part of Ike's Soldiers by collecting and submitting the story of a World War II veteran in your area.

IKEducation provides loads of FREE lesson plans created by experienced educators.

All of these resources complement each other and can be cherry-picked by teachers simply by setting up your own account.

VIRTUAL CLASSROOM

Ready to book? Visit EisenhowerFoundation.net or call 785.263.6771

ON-SITE FIELD TRIPS

Our campus includes five buildings. All are open to the public from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. daily.

Museum

Explore our newly renovated museum! It is divided into nine galleries that cover Ike and Mamie's life, and a rotating exhibit gallery.

Place of Meditation

Quietly reflect at the final resting place of Dwight and Mamie, along with their first son, Doud Dwight Eisenhower.

Statue and Pylons

The bronze statue of General Eisenhower in the center of campus, and the Pylons on the east end of campus are great spots for class photos and are used in our "Flat Ike" program.

Library

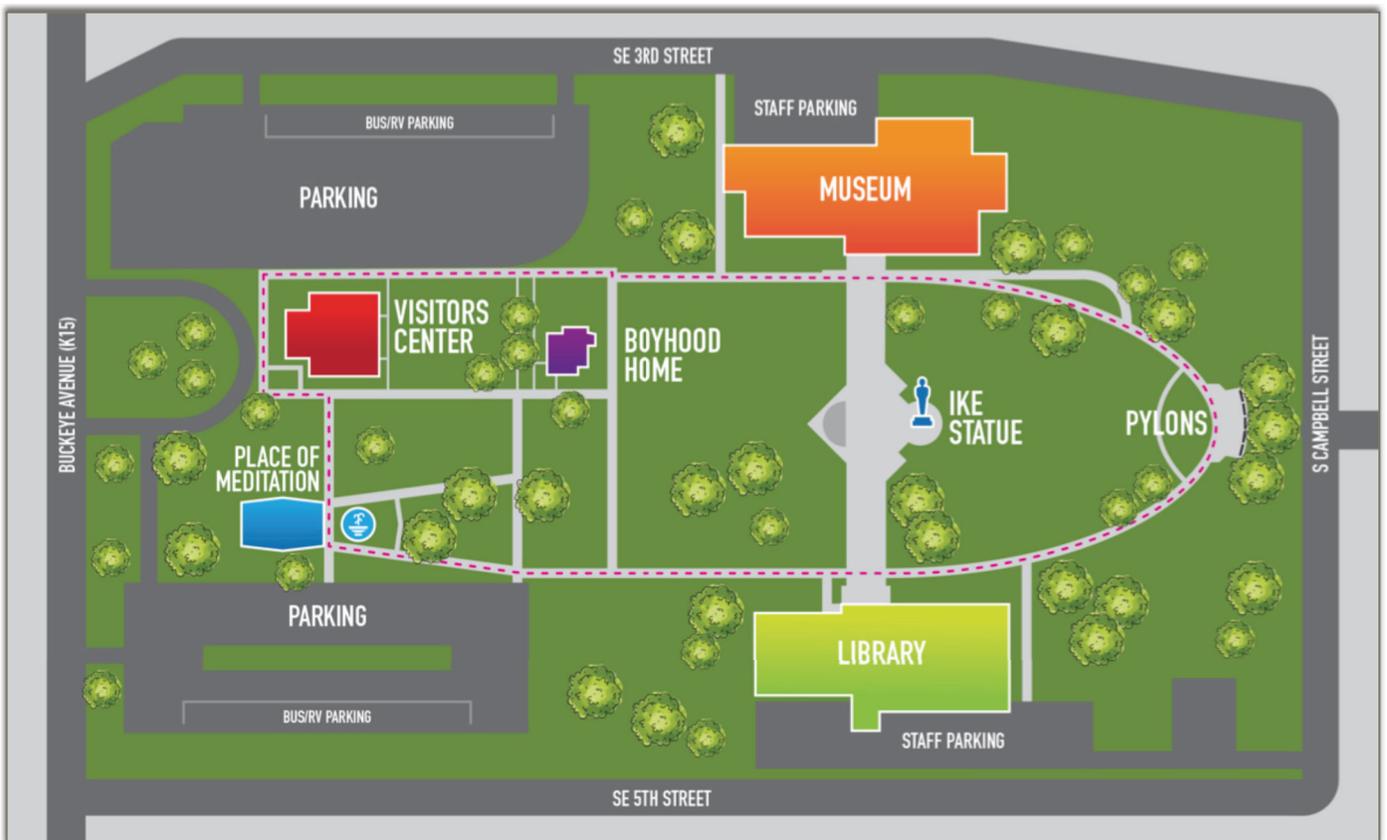

As part of the National Archives and Records Administration, the core function of the Library is to provide access for scholars to research in the archives. The building is open to the public, provides meeting spaces, and often has temporary exhibits.

Visitor Center

Watch a film that provides an overview of Ike's amazing life and visit the gift shop.

Boyhood Home

Tour Ike's boyhood home, exactly as it was left when it was donated to the Foundation in 1946.

Follow these steps for a successful field trip.

Reserving Your Field Trip

To begin the process of booking an IKEducation Field Trip, simply fill out a Field Trip Request Form on the Education pages at EisenhowerFoundation.net or call 785-263-6771.

Please note, dates are limited and available on a first-come basis. Reservations are preferred at least two weeks in advance. There is a ten student minimum requirement.

Please be aware of the time you have available when you are choosing your students' activities. If you cannot fit everything you want into one trip, we hope you will come back!

Custom Field Trip Schedule

Using the information supplied on your Field Trip Request Form, an IKEducator will work with you to create a custom field trip schedule to fit your available time, student numbers, and activity requests.

Adult Supervision

When arranging for adult chaperones who will actively supervise students, we ask that the school provides one supervisory adult for every ten students. One adult chaperone for every five students will be granted free admission. Extra adults require the purchase of an admission ticket upon arrival and are responsible for their own lunch. Please have this discussion with your adult chaperones before your arrival.

Lunch

School groups with sack lunches are welcome to eat at the picnic tables located on our spacious lawn. In the event of inclement weather, an alternative indoor lunch area will be provided. Abilene also has several area restaurants to serve your lunch needs. For a free pizza lunch, check out Ike's Field Trip Fund on page three.

Final Preparations

Please review the field trip confirmation letter and program schedule you will receive via email from IKEducation. Contact us if you have any questions or changes.

Arrival

We ask that you please arrive at the north side of the Visitors Center 15 minutes prior to your first scheduled activity so students have a chance to use the restroom, get into their tour groups, etc. An IKEducator will meet you there to distribute complimentary bags and give instructions to get you on your way.

STEPS for an ON-SITE FIELD TRIP

Boyhood Home

Grades K-12

30 minutes

While the Boyhood Home is currently undergoing a much-needed restoration, interior tours are not allowed.

However, an IKEducator will provide primary source photographs and maps along with additional information outside the home. This encourages them to imagine life for "Little Ike" and his family in the early years of the 20th-century. No indoor plumbing or television??!! What??!!

Place of Meditation

Grades K-12

15 minutes

Codenamed OPLAN KANSAS, the funeral ceremonies for President Eisenhower brought the world to Abilene's doorstep. Groups are welcome to independently visit the final resting place of Ike, Mamie, and their first son, or IKEducators are available upon request to provide additional information.

Visitor Center Orientation Video

Grades 5-12

30 minutes

Your field trip will begin at the Visitor's Center, located on the site of the former Lincoln Elementary School, where "Little Ike" attended school. In addition to a video that provides an overview of Dwight D. Eisenhower's life, the Visitor Center includes:

- ◆ Admissions Desk
- ◆ IKEducation Classroom Space
- ◆ Gift Shop
- ◆ Restrooms

Statue and Pylons

Grades K-12

15 minutes

The bronze statue of General Eisenhower in the center of campus, and the Pylons on the east end of campus, are great places for a class photo. See "Flat Ike" on page nine for an activity that provides more information.

Presidential Library

Grades K-12

15 minutes

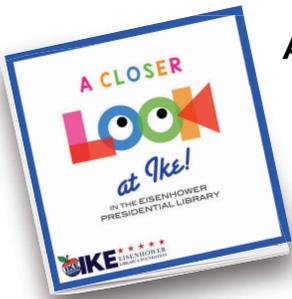

The library is a working archive that houses 26 million pages of primary source documents, along with media for the public to access and conduct research. An indoor courtyard is frequently used for IKEducation programs or lunches.

ALL NEW MUSEUM

Check it out!

We can't wait for students and teachers to explore the fully-renovated Eisenhower Presidential Museum with these learning guides. Teachers can facilitate them on their own, or an IKEducator will introduce and conclude the activity.

A Closer Look at Ike Grades K-3

A Closer Look at Ike is a great learning guide for elementary students to practice their visual thinking and close reading skills as they engage with a specific artifact from each gallery of the new Eisenhower Presidential Museum.

The Secret Lives of Artifacts Grades 4-8

The Eisenhower Presidential Museum is home to thousands of primary sources linked by their relevance to the life and times of Dwight D. Eisenhower. This learning guide asks students to consider what individual story an artifact may have and how it fits into the bigger picture of Ike's life.

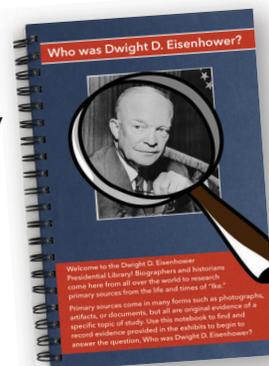

MUSEUM MISSIONS Grades 6-12

The new Presidential Museum is divided into nine galleries that cover Ike's amazing life from a barefoot boy to the lasting legacies he left the world. This activity challenges students to critically think about the content of each gallery as they solve puzzles and complete tasks until their mission is accomplished.

Who was Dwight D. Eisenhower? Grades 9-12

Biographers and historians come to the Eisenhower Presidential Library and Museum from all over the world to research primary sources from the life and times of "Ike." Use this guide to find and record evidence provided in the exhibits to begin to answer the question, Who was Dwight D. Eisenhower? This is a great tool to continue utilizing back in the classroom.

IKE ACTIVITIES in the MUSEUM

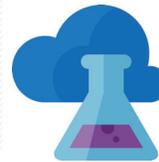

PROGRAMS

Every IKEducation enhancement program is free! These fun and educational programs utilize primary sources, such as documents and artifacts, to relate the 20th-century life and times of Dwight D. Eisenhower to today's 21st-century students.

IKEducation programs are not limited to history classes. They offer cross-curricular combinations of social studies with language arts, STEM, music and painting.

The COVID pandemic forced the on-site closure of the Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood home, starting in March of 2020. At the time this publication was printed, it was closed. We are hoping this will change in the near future and we will be able to host on-site field trips. Until that wonderful day, we can provide programs online or bring them to your school through Ike Express. As you browse the next pages, notice the symbols that designate the platform in which each program can be provided:

AT A GLANCE

Grades K-2 30 - 60 minutes

I is for Ike IKEducators will use an alphabet book and artifacts to introduce our youngest historians to the life of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Little Ike Story Time Each month will feature a different children's book and lesson with an Ike connection. IKEducators will read a book, play, and create with students. Visit our website to learn about each month's book.

Dogs for Defense

Grades K-5 1 hour

At a time when every American was asked to make sacrifices for the war effort, World War II marked the establishment of a program to which families donated their dogs to serve in the U.S. military. These four-legged recruits were transformed through training from loving pets into working troops. Students hear the story of Chips, a real Hero Hound who left the family sofa, entered the battlefield, and returned home a hero.

Attic Artifacts: Little Ike

Grades 3-5 1 hour

In this hands-on program, students explore artifacts from Ike's home, work, play, or school days here in Abilene in order to get a glimpse of what life was like for "Little Ike," as he was then called.

Rosie the Riveter

Grades 3-5 1 hour

When America's men left to fight with the Allies in World War II, women were recruited to work at non-traditional jobs in defense plants and factories. These "Rosie the Riveters" proved their abilities to America and have not looked back since. In this program, students will sing, solve puzzles, recreate their own Rosie photo, and use their critical thinking skills to analyze primary source photos and propaganda posters.

Attic Artifacts: World War II Kids

Grades 3-5 1 hour

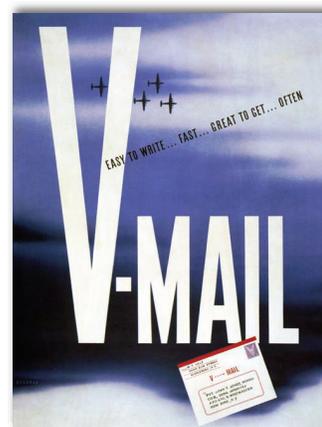

Following World War II, many Americans kept souvenirs of lost loved ones or their time in the war. Many of these articles were stored in boxes or trunks and then tucked away in attics, basements, and garages for decades. In this program, students learn what qualifies as an artifact, and how important artifacts are as sources of information. Students handle and evaluate images, documents, and a variety of artifacts from World War II.

V-Mail

Grades 4-8 1 hour

In the days before tweets, texts, Zooms, Snaps, or even email, written letters served as a vital link between friends and loved ones. The morale provided by letters from home to American soldiers who were fighting in foreign countries was irreplaceable. During World War II, U.S. post offices were flooded with mail and its bulk was competing with the space needed in transport vehicles for necessary military supplies. This created a huge problem of morale versus supplies; both critical to U.S. soldiers. In this program, students will learn how American ingenuity solved this problem through the invention of Victory Mail.

Duck and Cover

Grades 4-8 1 hour

The Civil Defense Administration educated and reassured all Americans that they could survive an atomic attack from the Soviet Union. This included children who received lessons from Bert the Turtle on how to “duck and cover” to protect themselves. In this program, students view 1950s civil defense artifacts and vie for supplies in a fallout shelter game.

Constitution Day

Grades 4-5 3 hours

Join us in the month of September to celebrate Constitution Day at the Eisenhower Presidential Library! Students learn about the three branches of government, with special emphasis on the Executive Branch and several examples of President Eisenhower's utilization of the Constitution. The program encourages students to develop habits of good citizenship for America's future.

Dear Mr. President

Grades 3-8 1 hour

Students are never too young to practice the American right to share their concerns with elected officials. In this program, students analyze children's letters to President Eisenhower, noting their purpose and topics of the 1950s—from Elvis's haircut to civil rights. They then practice civic engagement by writing their own letter to the current President of the United States about an issue that concerns or interests them.

Attic Artifacts: 101st Airborne

Grades 6-8 1 hour

Following World War II, many Americans kept souvenirs of lost loved ones or their time in the war. Many of these articles were stored in boxes or trunks and then tucked away in attics, basements, and garages for decades. In this program, students critically evaluate images, documents, and a variety of artifacts from the 101st Airborne's part in the D-Day invasion and liberation of Europe.

Use it Up, Wear it Out, Make it Do, or Do Without

Grades 6-8 1 hour

Every aspect of American life was focused towards winning during World War II, and everyone tried to do their part to support the Allied troops. Students handle primary sources like ration books and propaganda posters to learn how kids on the home front helped fight the war. Then, students play a board game that immerses them in the rationing and recycling programs that helped our troops win the war on the home front.

Code Talkers

Grades 6-8 1 hour

All of the countries involved in World War II had top-secret military information that had to be hidden from their enemies. For this reason, numerous tactics were used to disguise messages. In this program, students explore the Code Talkers, Native American men who served in the U.S. military and used their native languages to create codes that were never broken, even after the end of the war.

Space Race

Grades 6-8 1 hour

History changed when the Soviet Union launched the Sputnik I satellite in 1957. That launch marked the start of the space race and ushered in new scientific developments, like the establishment of NASA by President Eisenhower. Students will examine primary sources, generate a timeline of key events, and test engineering skills as they create and launch a straw rocket.

Paint Like Ike

Grades 5-12 3 hours

Join us for a hands-on lesson that combines Eisenhower, history, and art. Shortly before D-Day, Ike outlined instructions for the most comprehensive effort in history by an army to fight a war while also trying to minimize the damage to art, commonly known as the Monuments Men.

Not long after World War II, Ike took up the hobby of painting and enjoyed it throughout the rest of his life. Students will view several of Ike's works and "paint like Ike" to complete one of his landscapes.

This program is funded through a generous grant from the Robert E. and Patricia Schmidt Foundation.

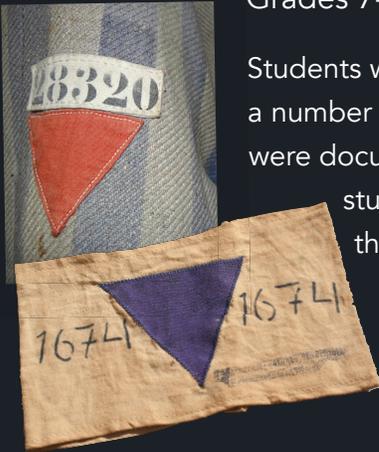

Holocaust: From a Name to a Number

Grades 7-12 1 hour

Students will learn how individuals were dehumanized as their name was replaced with a number or triangle, and that General Eisenhower made certain those war crimes were documented so those responsible would be held accountable. Most importantly, students learn about the Holocaust through the voices of survivors and realize that behind every number was a person with a name not to be forgotten.

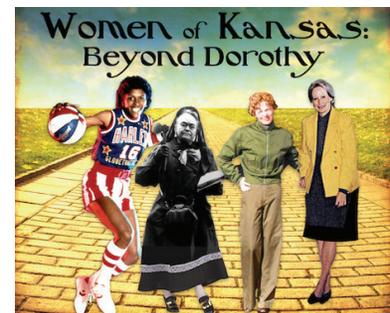

"The best thing about this program was giving students a number to help them understand the concept used in dehumanizing people in the Holocaust. Students learned and shared about their survivor, which helped them understand this tragedy."
-Educator from Thunder Ridge Middle School

Women of Kansas

Grades 6-8 1 hour

From the time Kansas became a state in 1861, it has been home to women who pushed the boundaries. From well-known Kansans like Amelia Earhart and Carrie Nation to lesser-known women who fought for equality in politics and sports, they have overcome obstacles to explore uncharted areas of the world not easily accessible to women. Dorothy was right in saying "There's no place like home," but the women presented in this program stepped way off the yellow brick road and blazed their own paths.

Primarily Omaha Beach

Grades 9-12 1 hour

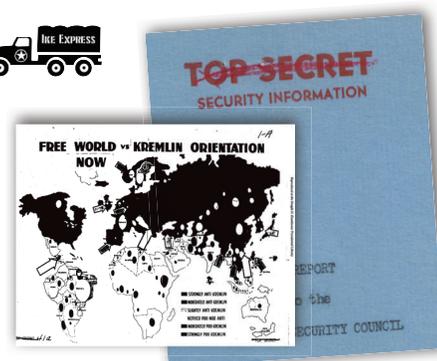

It is said that the defeat of Nazi Germany was sealed on Omaha Beach. One hundred and sixty-thousand troops landed within 24 hours on a 50-mile front. Students are introduced to the overall objective of D-Day and how its story is preserved through primary sources. They then apply that knowledge through examination of documents and artifacts from Omaha Beach.

Advise the President: Project Solarium

Grades 9-12 1.5 hours

Shortly after taking office, President Eisenhower needed to decide how the U.S. should confront Soviet Communist expansionism. In this program, students recreate Eisenhower's Project Solarium to analyze primary sources, discuss and debate the merits of three options, and advise the president of their recommendations.

"The program is a good critical thinking activity. The IKEducator did not just give the students the information up front - they needed to use contextual clues and reason."

-Educator from Rawlins County High School

Student Document Research

Grades 9-12 3 hours on-site to accompany pre- and post-visit work

Are your students ready for in-depth research to use for a paper, speech, or project? The Eisenhower Presidential Library has Student Research Files on nearly 50 topics related to Ike's life and times. Each file contains copies of documents and images from the Eisenhower archives that can fit your classroom needs.

Or, If you want a fully-prepared project, we offer In Conclusion: A Research and Informative Speech Project. It is perfect for team-teaching of English and History classes or to encourage students to participate in History Day. Winner of Archivist of the United States Achievement Award for Outstanding Contribution to the National Archives. Find it on our website!

Desegregation in Little Rock

Grades 11-12 2 hours

By 1957, the Civil Rights Movement was in full swing. Eisenhower had desegregated Washington D.C., and Brown v. Board of Education declared "Separate but Equal" unconstitutional. That fall, nine African American students became heroes in the cause of racial justice. Through simulations and primary sources, this program brings to life the pivotal events from the 1956-57 school year in Little Rock, Arkansas.

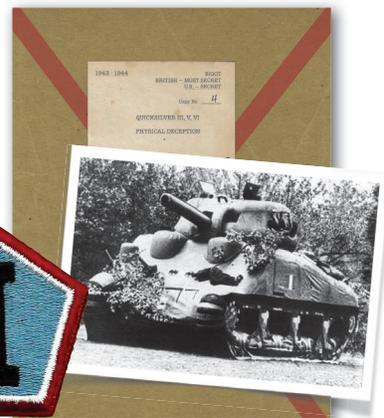

"The best thing about this program was students doing actual role-play while working with primary sources. The IKEducator did an excellent job as moderator of helping important facts come out in the discussion. I think this is an excellent program that is well organized. Thank you for the opportunity to participate." -Educator from Turning Point Academy

D-Day Deception

Grades 10-12 1.5 hours

The best deception is attained by feeding an opponent with falsehoods which he wants to believe. Using code names such as Fortitude, Bodyguard, Quicksilver, and Double-Cross, General Eisenhower commanded a series of covert operations that played a crucial role in the victorious Allied invasion of Europe. Students examine primary sources to gain an understanding of D-Day deception plans.

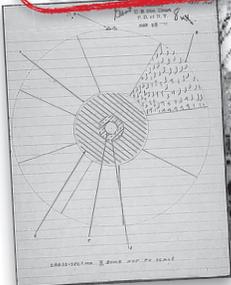

The Red Scare: Spies Among Us?

Grades 11-12 1.5 hours

Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, members of the Communist Party, were convicted of passing secrets to the Soviet Union in 1945 and sentenced to death. Controversy surrounded the case, as many claimed the decision was the result of Cold War hysteria, not facts. In this program, students examine primary documents from persons both inside and outside of the intelligence community, as well as stepping into President Eisenhower's position to decide whether to grant executive clemency to the Rosenbergs.

IKEDUCATION IS FOR TEACHERS & BY TEACHERS

Fact: Our IKEducators have over 250 years of combined k-12 classroom teaching experience.

WE GET IT.

Friends Program

At IKEducation, teachers are our partners in education and we want to thank them. If you are an educator with a K-12 accredited school in Kansas or its bordering states, simply visit the Education pages at EisenhowerFoundation.net to register for a complimentary Friends of the Eisenhower Foundation membership. This membership provides free admission to the Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home for one year. Show your card in our gift shop to save 20%.

Professional Development

We know teachers work hard all year to fulfill new standards and testing requirements, cover more material in less time, and adapt to the latest technologies, all the while inspiring young minds. We are here to help! Our teacher workshops provide access to amazing primary source resources, academic historians, and knowledgeable staff who can reignite your passion for teaching.

“My faith in [America’s young people] is my unbounded faith in America itself.”

Funding Opportunities

Although admission and program costs to you are zero, we realize that you might incur other expenses related to your field trip, such as transportation, substitute teachers, and lunch. Below are two options to help cover those expenses.

Dane G. Hansen Field Trip Program

The Dane G. Hansen Field Trip Program provides grants for schools in Northwest Kansas to visit the Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home, or we will bring IKEducation to your school through Ike Express or Ike Online (see pg 4).

Onsite, groups participate in field trip enhancement programs, view exhibits, and enjoy a complimentary pizza lunch.

Ike's Field Trip Fund

Ike's Field Trip Fund is designed to provide financial support to schools not in the Dane G. Hansen area who visit the Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum, and Boyhood Home.

To apply for consideration, simply complete the online application at EisenhowerFoundation.net. Please note that funds are limited and will be distributed on a first-come basis.

To apply for funding, visit EisenhowerFoundation.net.

IKEducation is 100% donor-funded. Please call or visit our website if you wish to support the legacy of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Kansas Geographic Bee

Each year thousands of 4th-8th grade classrooms in participate in the National Geographic Bee using materials prepared by the National Geographic Society. The contest is designed to encourage teachers to include geography in their classrooms, spark student interest in the subject, and increase public awareness about geography.

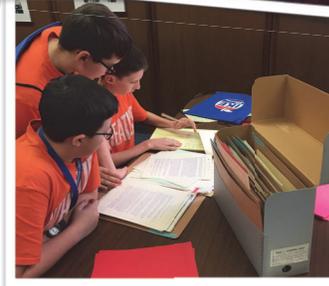

Each spring, the Eisenhower Presidential Library hosts the annual Kansas Geographic Bee. For more information, visit NatGeoBee.org.

National History Day

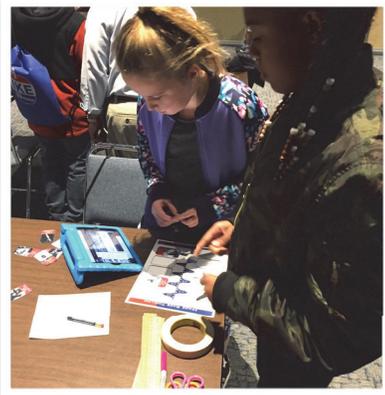

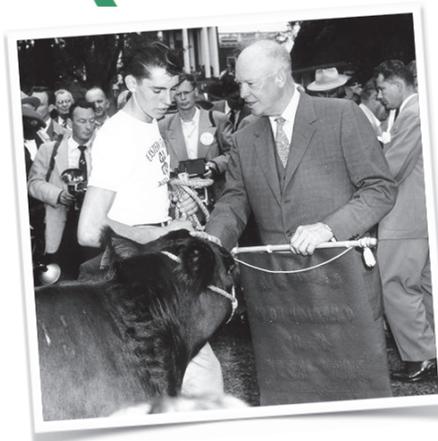

Are you helping your students research for National History Day's 2022 theme, "Debate & Diplomacy in History: Successes, Failures, Consequences"? Visit our website to research topics related to the theme and then contact us to schedule a research visit. Our IKEducators and archivists are here to assist you!

4-H Clubs

Is your 4-H club looking for a unique educational tour or program? IKEducation provides the perfect opportunity to enhance and reinforce the skills and values of 4-H. From raising and showing cattle to leading the world to peace, Dwight D. Eisenhower is an example of the perseverance, problem solving, confidence, leadership and citizenship that is 4-H.
